WORDS IMAGES MUSIC!

The Literature Centre, in partnership with WASO and Yamaha, is proud to present The Sound of Picture Books.

Our unique multi-modal workshops are back with a choice of two very different performances. One featuring Parachute by Danny Parker and Matt Ottley and the other Home and Away by John Marsden and Matt Ottley. All performances are tailored to the age groups attending and feature WASO's superb string quintet, Yamaha's Alf Demasi, narration by Danny Parker and Matt Ottley's illustrations shown on a large screen. Matt also demonstrates his illustration and composition techniques. Young and old will be captivated!

You and your students will leave feeling excited about the boundless possibilities of music and literature. Sessions will fill fast so book early!

Home and Away

Don't miss the opportunity for your secondary students to experience the premiere performances of this powerful and thought-provoking book. Home and Away is a compelling and confronting story of one Australian family as they suffer the hardships and terrors of war. Forced to flee Australia, they set out to find a new and safe home in a distant land.

Parachute

For primary students we are offering the delightful, fun-packed performance of Parachute. This is the endearing tale of a boy who copes with his fears by wearing a toy parachute, until one day a courageous act leads him to do without it.
